
Reflections

*Beneath the arch of endless sky
Waters mirror what hearts imply*

*A bridge stretches, delicate, bold
Binding the present to what might unfold*

Once, a Blue Moon

*It happens ever so rarely
You meet someone and feel they're the one
And you just know, for you have a glow*

*But after a phase, you might realize
When your energy doesn't yield synergy
You lose your way recognizing it may only be one-way*

*A crushing feeling takes hold, truth be told Closure comes as you regain composure
A connection of cosmic proportions
Can only flourish through effortless magic*

